

Fifteen Minutes of Fame: with Kenyon Wilson

Dr. Wilson holds positions as principal tubist with the Tuscaloosa Symphony Orchestra in Alabama and the Augusta Symphony Orchestra in Georgia. He has performed solo recitals in Canada, Japan, Azerbaijan, Georgia, and Armenia in addition to presenting recitals in thirty-six states in the USA. He has soloed with the Augusta Symphony, Waco Symphony, Queen City Brass Band, Clinch River Brass Band, Blasmusik Texas Brass Band, and the Asahikawa Symphonic Band in Japan.

Night Dance

Joe L. Alexander's music has been performed throughout the United States and Germany. He is a Professor of Music at Louisiana Tech University where he teaches Theory, Composition and Low Brass. Alexander holds a DMA from the University of North Texas. Night Dance is my second attempt at a Fifteen-Minutes-of-Fame composition. It was with great pleasure that I wrote this piece for a wonderful musician and friend, Kenyon Wilson.

Petite Valse Romantique

Composer/conductor/singer David Avshalomov writes in an accessible neo-Romantic, modern-tonal style, displaying a lyric gift and rhythmic vitality in his works for choirs, voice, chamber ensembles, band, and orchestra, earning numerous regional commissions and national awards. His music is performed across the US and Europe, and recorded on Albany and Naxos. I kept the start of this melody in my sketchbook for years because I liked the lyrical side of the tuba, and have met many tubists having a sentimental feeling for phrasing that is generally untapped in large ensembles. Hence this romantic little ABA waltz, whose time has come.

David Avshalomov

The urban sculpture

His music has been performed in many cities around the world such as São Paulo (Brazil), Paris (France), Quebec (Canada), Bremen (Germany), London (England), Bucharest (Romania), Vermont, New York and Washington DC (USA). As a performer, he has played concerts in different countries of the globe. "The urban sculpture" was written as a contemplation on an urban sculpture, observing and analyzing all its aspects – its shape, its color, its texture, its components and its meaning ... and the message that is being communicated.

Tubalosity

Kay Charlton is a trumpet player and composer who lives and works in London, UK. She teaches brass and class music in schools and plays with Bollywood Brass Band professionally. She has written 'Bollywood Blast', a series of tutor books for brass and woodwind and has had pieces published by Trinity College London. 'Tubalosity' is inspired by the versatility of the tuba sound – that of the funky bass and the melodic voice. The player should imagine they are playing both parts simultaneously as though the bass line is there all the way through, in the style of singer Bobby McFerrin.

Rumble In The Jungle

Gary A. Edwards was a tuba prodigy, graduated from Indiana University, where he knew Bill Bell. He taught public school music and has played in ensembles of various sizes from single to symphonic, most genres. He has written seven musicals and hundreds of pieces of music. www.EdwardsMusicSite.com Rumble In The Jungle, conveys the image indicated by the title and the frenetic pace of the low tuba notes of the fight for survival by mankind in a chaotic world fraught with unpredictable danger.

Affinity

Nicole DeMaio (b. 1991) is a New Jersey based musician and is primarily a clarinetist. She is currently studying at the John J. Cali School of Music within Montclair State University for degrees in Music Education and Music Theory & Composition. Nicole has garnered many accolades for her music and has recently won the New Jersey Arts Collective's Pictures Composition Contest (with honorable mentions in 2010 and 2011). "Affinity" is a simple love song for unaccompanied tuba. The work shows off the upper range of the instrument that is often ignored yet quite beautiful.

Matthew Hetz, a Los Angeles native, began piano lessons at age 16. Hetz began playing the violin at age 23, and is primarily self-taught. He studied composition with Marshall Bialovsky, Cal State Dominguez Hills. He is president/executive director of the Culver City Symphony Orchestra. He is an environmental and mass transit advocate. In Los Angeles, the development of Playa Vista is on the grounds of what was Howard Hughes Aircraft. The area's small stream and cliffside have been returned to more natural states. I walk through the grounds, I hear the frogs.

Minute 'til Midnight

Katie Lyphout is the band director at Glenview Middle School in East Moline, IL. She received her degree in Music Education from Western Illinois University in 2009. Her primary instrument is Euphonium. Ever since high school, Ms. Lyphout has enjoyed composing music in her spare time. Minute 'til Midnight for Unaccompanied tuba depicts the hustle and bustle that might occur before the clock strikes twelve at Midnight. Sneaky, suspenseful, and intense... You will hear the "tik tok" sound of the clock ticking shortly before you hear the clock strikes twelve and the piece concludes.

Don't be Seen

Joshua Mattison is a Music major at Louisiana Tech University studying music composition under Dr. Joe L. Alexander. He has had pieces performed on concerts & recitals at Louisiana Tech University, Grambling State University, The University of Louisiana at Monroe, The Bossier Parish Community College, and Tennessee State University. Don't be Seen is a short programmatic piece based on a game the composers' wife played as a child. The game was simple—don't be seen. The piece was based on a small motive that is introduced as multi-phonics sung over a held note in the tuba.

Lullaby for 'the Offspring'

Johnathan Michael Cruz Segovia is a native to San Antonio, Texas and is currently studying as an undergraduate in composition at Texas Lutheran University in Seguin, Texas. Segovia has studied Tuba performance under the San Antonio Brass and with Keith Robinson at Texas Lutheran University. "Lullaby for 'the Offspring'" was inspired by the American Punk band "The Offspring"; specifically their song "The Kids Aren't Alright" which deals with the topic of the unfulfilled dreams of youth. The composition pays homage to the original angsty and bitter melody while expanding it into a sorrowful cantabile lullaby.

Quick Low Down

Ray Strobel studied composition with Leonardo Balada at Carnegie Mellon, receiving degrees in Composition and Music Education. He writes for solo/chamber instruments, band, and both secular and sacred chorus. Ray teaches elementary band at Wilkinsburg School District, and arranges many works for them. He lives just north of Pittsburgh, PA. Quick Low Down is an up-tempo jazzy tune that is meant to be fun while exploring the versatile range of the tuba. Agility changing registers is needed, as is maintaining the tempo of 208 bpm to play the tune in one minute.

Ray Strobel

Up and Down

Angelo Ursini is a instrumentist (Sax, clarinet and flute) and composer. Currently living in São Paulo (Brazil) participates in some compositional groups with others composers. Has some research in popular Brazilian and Latin-American rhythms such as Chorinho, Baião, Maxixe, Cueca, Huayno. Also plays ethnal flutes. This piece uses the scale dom-dim. The idea was to switch between some groove and the motive that goes up just to fall down.
