

Fifteen Minutes of Fame: andPlay

andPlay is committed to expanding the existing violin/viola duo repertoire through performing rarely heard works and commissioning emerging composers. This New York City based duo of Maya Bennardo, violin, and Hannah Levinson, viola, first played to an eager crowd on Fire Island in the summer of 2012, and performed this past season at Caffe Vivaldi, 109 Gallery, and the Vox Novus Composer's Voice series. The success of their first commissioned piece, "Pulling Anchor" by Matt Frey, led them to pursue similar opportunities with other composers, and they are awaiting three new works for the fall of 2013. Maya and Hannah met while studying at Oberlin Conservatory, and continued their educations at New York University and the Manhattan School of Music, respectively. Despite living on opposite sides of the city, the members of andPlay enjoy taking the subway to meet for rehearsals and delicious baked goods.

Fluctuations Rachel Graff Rachel Graff began studying composition at Kent Music Academy where she developed her own compositional style and won several composition competitions. She is currently in her third year studying music at the University of Manchester, where she is thoroughly enjoying the many composition opportunities on offer. 'Fluctuations' explores the different timbres that can be created by using the pressure of the bow and where the bow is placed on the string, and the different levels of intensity that can be created using these factors.	Ļ _
Duo for Violin and Viola Matthew Hetz Matthew Hetz, a Los Angeles native, began piano lessons at age 16. Hetz began playing the violin at age 23, and is primarily self-taught. He studied composition with Marshall Bialovsky, Cal State Dominguez Hills. He is president/executive director of the Culver City Symphony Orchestra. He is an environmental and mass transit advocate.
Zoom Nathan Johnson See the best of the Living State Country of the Living State Cou Seattle-based composer Nathan Johnson's music has been performed in the United States, Canada, and Russia, and is particularly inspired by the natural world, astronomy, folk music, and literature. The recipient of numerous awards and honors, Mr. Johnson holds degrees in composition from California State University Long Beach and Biola University. Like a high-speed race over uneven terrain, this duet for violin and viola has the musicians rushing and stumbling over, under, and around each other through an asymmetrical meter and quirky harmonies.
Redox Michael Lukaszuk
Michael Lukaszuk (b. 1989) in Kingston, Canada. Much of his music is focused on exploring the interconnectedness of the natural and digital sound worlds. He holds a Master's degree in composition from The University of Western Ontario. Michael's music has been performed in Canada, the United Sates, the United Kingdom and Romania. The term "redox" refers to a type of chemical reaction in which there is a simultaneous transfer of electrons from one chemical species to another. These reactions occur in nature's most ordinary events. The interdependent nature of the violin and viola parts in this piece is reflective of this concept.
Autumn Fields Michael Maiorana
Michael Maiorana is a composer and arranger working in Grinnell, IA, and Detroit, MI. He has studied primarily with John Rommereim and Eric McIntyre, with additional instruction from Chris Gainey and Roberto Andreoni. Michael enjoys writing for choir, small ensembles, and friends. This piece is inspired in part by Bartok's violin duos and in part by my current surroundings on a 320 acre farm-residency. I am engulfed by golden, waving	السلسا corn on all sides.
VIOLINVIOLA Iain Matheson	∤ Iain Matheson is Scottish. He graduated BMus from Glasgow University, studying composition with Lyell Cresswell. He now lives in Edinburgh. His music has been performed throughout Britain and Europe: also in New Zealand, and at one previous Fifteen Minutes concert. The piece is made of chords played by each instrument in turn. The rhythm is irregular, and the register of the chords. The only constant is the volume, loud throughout. Parallax Ryan Muar I am now studying music composition at the University of South Florida for my BM. My musical interests are experimentation with different compositional techniques to explore many different possibilities and to keep my music inventive. In my piece parallax I create an interest from the very start by using abrupt changing dynamics and wide leaps in pitch. I was influenced by what is called a solar parallax which has helped to discover the size of the universe and the distance of objects in space.
Telegram Natalija Munda Natalija Munda was born in 1987 in Jurmala, Latvia. She studied Latvian academy of music in Riga and the academy of music in Cracow. She perfected her composition skills at Gaudeamus music festival in Amsterdam and "Synthetis" in Poland. She was awarded with the 2nd prize within the New Music Festival ARENA in the year 2009 and 3rd prize in the year 2010. Now she studies for masters degree in composition in the Jerusalem Academy of Music and Dance with Vladimir Scolnic. "Telegram" was composed specifically for the "15 minutes of fame: andPlay". A telegram (Greek tele: distant and
